DAY 5: Boston, MA (B)

Today you travel to Boston, MA where you will enjoy a three-night stay at the Hilden Garden Inn, Boston Waltham. Dinner is on your own this evening.

DAY 6: Boston Tea Party Ships & Museum, Bunker Hill, Revolutionary War Touring (BD)

Today begins at the Boston Tea Party Ship and Museum. Join Samuel Adams as he leads a recreation of the historic town meeting held prior to marching on Griffin's Wharf. Everyone will get a chance to participate in this rebellion by tossing the Crown's tea into the same body of water where this brave act took place nearly 250 years ago. Then enter the museum where you will encounter the Robinson Tea Chest, the only known surviving tea chest from the "Boston Tea Party". Learn how this event sparked the American Revolution as you experience the immersive, critically acclaimed film, "Let It Begin Here".

A stop is also made today at the Bunker Hill Monument. The Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775, was the first major battle of the Revolutionary War and predicted the character and outcome of the rest of the war. Enjoy some free time in downtown Lexington for lunch on own, shopping and sightseeing. Next you start your Revolutionary War Tour in Lexington where the first shots of the American Revolution rang out. Visit the Lexington Battle Green. It was here, on the morning of April 19, 1775, that "the first blood was spilt in the dispute with Great Britain," as George Washington wrote in his diary. In this first skirmish, 77 Lexington militia, often called Minutemen (local colonists who had volunteered to be first responders to military and other threats), faced British Regulars.

EVERY DAY BRINGS A NEW ADVENTURE!

The Boston Tea Party occurred on Dec 16, 1773. This year, 2023 is the 250th Anniversary. Come see where it started, visit the Battle Green in Lexington where in 1775 they fired "The shot heard round the world." Listen to the stories of Paul Revere and the Minutemen as you search for history amongst the skyscrapers.

Also, located here is the Minuteman Statue, representing a member of the Lexington militia, local colonists who had volunteered to be first responders to military and other threats. The actual Minutemen were an elite subset of this group, young and fit and able to respond quickly.

Then visit the Hancock-Clarke House, the destination of Paul Revere on the night of April 18, 1775, as he and William Dawes rode from Boston to warn the sleeping Samuel Adams and John Hancock of the coming of British troops. It contains period furnishings and portraits, William Diamond's drum, and the British Major Pitcairn's pistols.

At Concord's North Bridge, see the place where, on April 19, 1775, Colonial militia men fired the famous "shot heard 'round the world." Along the five-mile "Battle Road Trail", travel back in time through a restored colonial landscape and retrace the steps of the British.

Along the way, stop in the Hartwell Tavern, a restored 18th-century tavern on Battle Road. It is now a "living history" center staffed by costumed Park Rangers who can offer you a glimpse of life in Revolutionary times.

Tonight, your meal is included at the Historic Colonial Inn, a landmark historic hotel in Concord, Massachusetts. The restaurant serves classic American cuisine along new favorites. The only thing better than their food is the Inn's rich history. Following dinner, return to Boston.

DAY 7: JFK Presidential Library, Faneuil Hall and Quincy Market, New England Aquarium, Whale Watching Cruise (BD)

This morning, tour the John F Kennedy Presidential Library & Museum. Relive the powerful story of the Kennedy years. In three theaters, period settings, and 25 dramatic multimedia exhibits, you will enter the recreated world of the Kennedy Presidency for a "first-hand" experience of John F. Kennedy's life, legacy, and leadership.

Next, stroll through and browse the shops at Faneuil Hall Marketplace/Quincy Market and enjoy lunch on own. This location is synonymous with world-class street performers showing off unimaginable acts of juggling, acrobatics and more for throngs of tourists and locals who gather to watch. The street performances that visitors have come to identify with Faneuil Hall were born with the Marketplace's historic revitalization in 1976 and have been going strong since.

This afternoon visit the New England Aquarium and check out the Giant Ocean Tank, the shark and ray touch tank, touch a sea star or get to know a sea urchin. Then set sail on a Whale Watching Cruise where you will see whales, dolphins, sea birds and other marine creatures. And you'll learn about them from New England Aquarium naturalists who are always on board to share knowledge, answer your questions and explain the mind-blowing behaviors of these truly magnificent mammals.

This evening's dinner will be at The Union Oyster House, America's oldest restaurant. The building dates to Pre-Revolutionary days and continues with much the same atmosphere and food that Daniel Webster frequently enjoyed. During dinner, you will be entertained by a guest speaker knowledgeable of the area's history and surprising events that occurred in Boston and the surrounding areas.

DAY 8: Fort Ticonderoga, Queensbury, NY (BD)

Departing Boston today, visit Fort Ticonderoga. During the Revolutionary War, George Washington sent troops to Ticonderoga while he held the high-ground above Boston and the British held the city for months. At the fort were dozens of cannons that were brought back to Boston and in the dark of the night they were aimed from the hilltops onto the city. When the British awoke and saw the guns they packed their ships and fled Boston that very morning.
